Appledore Bronze Turkeys

Traditionally reared on Romney Marsh in Kent, Appledore's free-range bronze turkeys are slowly grown, dry-plucked and hung for at least seven days to develop exceptional flavour and tenderness. Carefully selected for Carnivore by Andrew & Clive, these traditional Christmas birds make a wonderful centrepiece for your festive table.

6 – 7kg	Serves approximately 12 – 14

Prefer a traditional bone-in crown?

Simply purchase your whole turkey and ask one of our butchers to prepare a traditional bone-in crown when you collect it. We prepare it on the day for freshness.

A Little Something for the Community

If you don't need the legs or wings from your turkey, we'll happily donate them to South Norwood Community Kitchen. This wonderful organisation supports people travelling from across the wider community, providing food and a welcoming place for those who need it. We're proud to have supported their work with donations of fresh meat for many years. The kitchen collects directly from us, so there's nothing else you need to arrange.
